Bicentennial Elementary School's tradition has held strong and Bicentennial's 5th graders hosted Bictown! The fifth graders worked hard to prepare for the May 10th event, taking all they have learned through their J.A. and Biztown experiences and applying those skills related to finances, business management, and other career-related topics to this real-life simulation.

Arrowhead Ranch Ends All Operations

Arrowhead Ranch in Coal Valley discontinued its residential programming in April. Dr. Luis Moreno, the Executive Director, stated “It is with a heavy heart” that Arrowhead Youth & Family Services or Arrowhead Ranch, a private, non-profit treatment facility in Coal Valley, dedicated to serving at-risk youth, announces the closure of its residential programming effective April 23, 2024, the release says.

“Despite tireless efforts to sustain our mission of guiding youth towards becoming productive and responsible individuals through quality counseling, education, and social services, the organization is compelled to cease the operation of its residential programming due to insurmountable financial challenges.

Watch the “The Cities with Jim Mertens” interview via WVIK with Dr. Luis Moreno, Arrowhead Executive Director at <https://www.wvik.org/podcast/the-cities/2024-04-25/the-rising-costs-and-policy-changes-why-arrowhead-ranch-had-to-close>

In addition, Arrowhead is discontinuing its Day Reporting Center program, which served as a resource center and reentry hub for vulnerable youth.

The decision to close Arrowhead’s residential programs comes as a result of several factors, primarily stemming from the State of Illinois’ implementation of the Family First Prevention Services Act in the fall of 2021. “This legislation brought about required changes that significantly impacted the funding landscape for organizations like ours. Regrettably, the funding provided by the State of Illinois is no longer sufficient to cover the costs associated with delivering our essential services and programs.”

Arrowhead was founded in 1945 and had been a private, non-profit treatment facility serving at-risk youth aged 12-21. Arrowhead facility is located outside the village limits in a rural Coal Valley at 12200 104th Street.

University of Illinois Extension

GET YOUR PRESSURE CANNER TESTED FOR FREE BY ILLINOIS EXTENSION

Spring is a great time to take inventory of your canning equipment to prepare for the summer canning season. If you have a dial gauge pressure canner, make it a habit to get it tested by Illinois Extension every year.

Various foods can be canned at home with a boiling water bath and pressure canner. Water bath canning is used for high-acid foods, including fruits and acidified tomato products. However, if low-acid foods, like meats and vegetables, are in your canning plans, you must use a pressure canner.

Over time, the needle on a dial gauge pressure canner can become inaccurate. If the dial gauge is not measuring the correct pressure, foods inside the pressure canner may be underprocessed, which increases the risk of serious illness from botulism.

Drop off your lids(s) at one of our offices in Galva, Viola or Milan (addresses and hours are listed on the front of this newsletter.) Once they are checked, you will be contacted for pickup. Testing is free and available year-round. For fastest service, take them to the Milan office where our nutrition and wellness educator Kristin Bogdonas has her office. For more information, contact her at kmbogdo@illinois.edu or call her at 217-244-5274.
